Curtis, Late Judge of the Supreme Court of the United States: In Review of His Recently Published Pamphlet on the Emancipation Proclamation Of the President I propose respectfully, but with perfect frankness, to review your recently published pamphlet on the subject of the President's Emancipation Proclamation of September 22d, 1862. This would have been done at an earlier day, but it is only very recently that I first saw the pamphlet. It is to be regretted that, regarding - as you profess to do - this proclamation and that of the 24th of the same month, as fraught with peril to your countrymen, you did not treat them separately. They differ radically and essentially in subject and in intent. The one is limited in its application to the rebel States, the other applies equally there and here. The one involves ultimate results and consequences of the most important and enduring character; the other is, in its very nature, temporary. The one gives rise to considerations of a kind wholly different from, and irrelevant to, the other; yet your pamphlet so confuses them together, that it is quite difficult, if not impossible, to discover what, in your view, is the distinguishing fatal error of each. Justice to the subject, which you declare to be of such momentous import; justice to the Head of this great nation, whose acts you arraign as bordering on, if not actually amounting to, the crime of usurpation; justice to the elevated position you so recently occupied, required that you should at least have pointed out separately, distinctly, and in the most lucid manner,...
