In the present instance these two essentials are not altogether easy of attainment. Our great distance from the Philippine archipelago, and the unreliable character of much that finds its way into our local press concerning conditions there, make facts hard to obtain, while differences of race, training, and temperament between the Filipinos and ourselves make it difficult, if not impossible, for many of us to put ourselves in their place. Those who reason that under given circumstances these children of the tropics would feel as we do, will sooner or later fall into grievous error. While looking over newspaper comments on the preliminary report submitted to the President of the United States by the Commission of which I have the honor to be a member, I noted with interest a suggestion, evidently made...
