(1) We are not aware that there were any originals, except that the face itself is in the Franconia Notch, New Hampshire. 120.--In Andrew D. White s History of the Warfare of Science with Theology in Christendom, Vol. I., Chap. I., page 80, is the following sentence: With that hard Scotch sense which Thackeray had applauded in his well-known verses, he saw the most dangerous thing which, etc. I would like to know what verses are referred to. Can you help me? J. w. c. 121.--Can you give me title or author of a book relating to the old National Pike, the highway extending from Maryland into Indiana? B. 122.--Can you inform us whether a list has ever been published of the several expeditions to the Arctic regions, and if so, where it may be found? I understand that seventy-six expeditions have been sent out by various countries in search of the North Pole, and desire to learn by what governments they have been sent out and the names of the expeditions. N. R. P. The article Arctic Discovery, in the first volume of the American Cyclopaedia, will give you the information, though not in the form of a definite list, down to 1873, and the subject is continued in the annual volumes. But do not make the mistake of supposing that ever) Arctic expedition is for the purpose of finding the North Pole. 123.--Will you kindly inform me what...
